

SECTION 10

10.07 INSTALLATION:

Denver Water may permit the Distributor to have his/her own Contractor install a Conduit. Denver Water reserves the right to install Conduits when to do so is in the best interest of Denver Water. This determination is solely at the discretion of Denver Water and the Distributor shall pay all installation costs, whether installed by his/her Contractor or by Denver Water.

Denver Water requires that the Conduit installation be witnessed and controlled by Denver Water at the expense of the Distributor. The Distributor shall also furnish, at his/her own expense, such labor as may be required by Denver Water to enable thorough inspection and culling of all the materials by him and shall furnish reasonable samples of materials at the job to afford adequate testing.
